Quick Reaction Force Operations

This 4 day class will focus on the planning, execution, and response of a Quick Reaction Force element. The first day will be split between the classroom and scouting operational areas, the second day will take place on the range, and the final two days will be training scenarios at different sites across Orlando.